

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A master disc has a pattern of soft magnetic film in which the length thereof or the interval between soft magnetic material and another soft magnetic material is kept less than a predetermined value. Blocks of 2-bit information are converted to the corresponding number of blocks each having at least 3-bits of servo address information of a servo signal. Each of the converted blocks contains at least one bit having a different value.